HomeBoost gets added value upgrades

From Salamander Pumps

Always an easy fit pump unit, Salamander's market leading mains booster pump is now even easier to install. HomeBoost is designed to be connected to 22mm pipe work requiring standard nut and olive compression fittings. However, if the installation is on to 15mm pipe, HomeBoost comes supplied with two reducing sets which will connect the pump to the smaller bore pipe. With fewer connections and lower costs for additional fittings, Salamander has added even more value to its intelligent mains pump by supplying the kit for non-standard installations, which is sometimes difficult to get hold of.
