« Super Rod

Cavity Master

The Cavity Master from Super Rod puts an immediate end to the untidy practice of lifting particle or chipboard flooring to gain access to services followed by limited success with replacement and repair once the installation is complete.

Now, all installers need to do is attach the Cavity Master to their power drill, locate and centre the tool over the target area and drill. Once the job is complete, simply repair the area by inserting a cavity cover plate which fits flush with the surface.

⤴ Knipex

ErgoStrip Cable Stripping Tool

The angled shape of the ErgoStrip allows it to strip all common NYM cables and the comfortable pistol grip means there is no need to change grip when disassembling. It's ideal for work in confined spaces such as junction boxes and distribution boxes as the tapered tool ends allow for dismantling in cramped areas.

Ever with installer needs in mind, Knipex has placed location ridges on the wire stripping holes so that the correct cable position for stripping can be found intuitively – even in the dark. As the insertion points for coax and data cables are angled, with gentle pressure the cables simply slide into the correct position by themselves.
